

What are the Purple Papers?

What are the Purple Papers? Roland Comtois has created a visual platform where poignant messages from spirits are conveyed. He spends considerable time, almost daily, recording messages he hears, feels, sees on sheets of blank 11X17 purple paper.

The Purple Papers are held under Roland's care until the rightful recipient is found. Each purple paper is photographed and showcased on Roland's website and social media sites before he meets the one for who it was intended. The original is always given to that person.

Here's how the Purple Papers work ... the Purple Papers are presented at many of Roland's events. Roland does not have knowledge of the intended Purple Paper recipient, nor the members of an event's audience. In fact, many of the papers are written days and months before they reach the intended loved one. As Roland speaks to a person at an event, a name, object or situation reminds Roland of a prewritten message and this opens the door to an incredible story.

It's not just their amazing accuracy that leaves entire audiences in wonderment when they hear a Purple Paper story. It's also their ability to bring a loved one's life full circle; to honor their memories, to reaffirm their relationships with those they left behind and to renew their love for one another.

Uniquely healing to the recipients, the Purple Papers resonate with everyone who receives them. They turn grief into hope, despair into promise and comfort hearts and souls like few things can. And while the messages on the Purple Papers are powerful by themselves, the stories behind them serve as a lasting testimony and validation to the existence of eternal love.
